The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid, the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills, and ordered their papers discontinued.

The Courts have decided that a refusal to take a newspaper or periodical from the Post Office with out notifying the publisher and the payment of all arrearages, is prima facie evidence of fraud

Subscribers to newspapers or periodicals removing, are liable to pay so long as the paper or periodical may be sent to the residence of the party at the time of subscription unless notice is sent of such removal to the publication office

American & Foreign Patents.

R H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U S Patent Office Washington, (under the Act of 1837)
76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries Caveats, Specifications, Bonds Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is not in the largest in New England, but it rough it inventors have advantages for securing Patents of actorts ning the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by if n l immeasurably superior to any which can be offered there elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber, and as success is the best proof of advantages such a thing should be known and reason to believe, and can prove that at no other office or the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents

These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe render him able beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse"
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office
LAWSON BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

"Mr R H EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but one of which patents have been granted and that is now pending such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges
JOHN TAGGART

During eight months, the subscriber in course of his large practice made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents

Blackwood's Magazine,
AND THE
BRITISH REVIEWS!

Great Inducements to Subscribers!

PREMIUMS AND REDUCTIONS!

L SCOTT & CO New York continue to publish the following leading British Period cals viz:

1. The London Quarterly (Conservative)
2. The Edinburgh Review, (Whig)
3. The North British Review, (Free Church)
4. The Westminster Review, (Liberal
5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, (Tory)

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year They will occupy a middle ground between the daily newspapers and the ponderous tomes of the Quarterlies, combining the political information of the former with the more elaborate discussions and thinking articles of the latter. In short, they will be found the cheapest and most satisfactory means of placing before the reader a faithful picture of the great political events of the time, while the literary, scientific and theological character of the Reviews will still maintain their high rank as the standard representatives of their respective departments of literature.

The Blackwood's Magazine is a monthly, containing about 100 pages each number, and giving a faithful picture of the events of the day, both in Europe and America, from the pen of some of the ablest writers of the day. It is a favorite with all who can appreciate a high-toned, vigorous, and entertaining magazine.

TERMS Regular Price Per Annum

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE.

LARGE PREMIUMS

TO OUR FRIENDS

Hitherto we have never offered any one a premium for aiding us to extend the circulation of THE TRIBUNE We have printed the cheapest newspaper for the outlay by which it is produced that was sold in any country selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper, has employed no agents to canvass for subscribers, and have allowed no commission (beyond a copy of our paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the number of copies of our weekly issue should be realized in their respective neighborhoods we have maintained and (possibly) increased We have been spared even formal thanks to these friends, but have none the less realized the fullness of our obligation for their earnest unselfish, painstaking, patient efforts

We propose for the present season only—in view of the public use of the times and the fact that we are enabled to pay up the paper somewhat cheaper than we had hitherto done or can hope to do after the close of the War—to make some small acknowledgment—not so much a recompense as a slight testimonial—to those friends who shall see fit to exert themselves to obtain subscriptions (whether original or renewals) to our Weekly and Semi Weekly editions We do not know that we could offer any thing of similar value in regard generally not plain and useful but a beautiful Print of the best quality and finish We propose therefore to forward to each person who during the two months ensuing shall send us subscriptions with payments for THE TRIBUNE, as follows

Daily Tribune—$10 per Annum

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the sign of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

Correspondence of the Whig & Courier.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 4, 1862.

General Butler telegraphed yesterday to know which regiment he could have immediately to put on shipboard on Wednesday, if possible. He had previously telegraphed to the different colonels to be ready to move at an hour's notice. Col. Dow (13th) was at Portland, and Colonel Nickerson (14th) at Belfast. On the receipt of Butler's despatch, they were immediately telegraphed. Col. Dow replied that he could not leave under three days; Col. Nickerson replied that he would report himself immediately, to go whenever and wherever ordered. Then came the difficulty about paying off. The rolls of the 13th were all ready and signed, but those of the 14th were only partially completed. This was remedied by immediately putting on a large extra force. But then came the important question—Where shall we get the money?" The Paymaster has been waiting several days for about $100,000, which has got as far as New York, but for some unaccountable reason does not come further. The "money kings" of Augusta were summoned, and asked the question—What can you do to help us? They were very sorry, "but they had no money to spare just at this time." They would be glad to have it obtained elsewhere, if possible. And where should we look but to Bangor, prompt and ever ready for such an emergency, as she ever is. In answer to the Governor's inquiry, we were gratified by the response—"You can have as much as you want", and today Mr. Dennett, Cashier of the Bank of the State of Maine, brought over $20,000, and the men are being paid off as fast as poss ble.

The 14th are now all ready and will be off in a special train as soon as a definite order arrives, to join Gen. Butler's force, which is generally understood to be destined for Ship Island. There will be about 900 strong, well armed and clothed. Col. Nickerson is an experienced officer, has been in active service, is thoroughly versed in military duty, is a rigid disciplinarian and will, I am confident, prove to be one of the best officers our State has sent forth. He is not afraid of the negro or his rebel master, but goes for putting down the rebellion by striking directly at its cause, and to this end we must all come at last. The Colonel has a fine regiment, with good officers, harmonious in a remarkable degree. I predict for them a good record.

My attention has been called to a paragraph which has been going the rounds of the papers to the effect that the Somerset, Kennebec and Portland Railroad had, on a recent occasion, refused to take the United States demand notes.—I believe this to be entirely untrue. On the contrary, the Superintendent of this road, B. H. Cushman, Esq., is entitled to the thanks of the community for the prompt rebuke of any attempts to refuse or depreciate these. He is a whole souled, patriotic gentleman, prompt and vigilant in his duty, and accommodating and courteous to all who have business with him.—On the "Crisis" day, when so many in this vicinity were frightened out of their propriety by visions of unredeemable Government promises, Mr. Cushman telegraphed to all his conductors to take all such bills as were offered, and they did not refuse in any case. Before this notice was given, the ticket seller at the Augusta station, a man who is not supposed to suffer with excess of loyalty, did refuse a $5,00 demand note offered in payment for a ticket. Mr. Cushman soon heard of it and compelled him to take the very bill so offered, and giving him at the same time a severe reprimand for his conduct. It is pleasant to say that you will not hear of any want of patriotic feeling and action on the part of B. C. or the K. & P. Railroad. I presume the A. & K. Road are equally patriotic, and as strongly determined to support the Government.

F.

P. S. The order has just come from Boston, and the 14th leave tomorrow.

The Montreal Pilot complains that sometimes when the English regiments quartered in that city are become very frequent of late, desertion of the deserters, on reaching the United States, join the United army.

IMPORTANT STRATEGICAL PLAN. The New York Times of Saturday has a letter in consequence of the strategical views of "an eminent military authority," which have been laid before members of Congress, and, it believes, also before the War Department. This "authority" takes the ground that no advance from Washington ought to be made, as the taking of Richmond, and sweeping the rebels south and southwest would be a barren triumph, especially after they destroyed all the roads on their retreat, burnt the bridges and swept the country clean of forage and supplies of all kinds. The principle advocated is the establishment of a base of operations as near as possible to the heart of the enemy's movements, and from which descents on the several decisive points should be made as speedily as possible. Such a line of operations, according to this "eminent military authority," would exist in Kentucky, with a base at Louisville extending to Nashville, and on the southwest to Memphis, and even Montgomery, and concludes that, should the rebel army of Virginia withdraw from the State to prevent this movement, they must lose many of their North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia regiments; they must fight on ground which we should choose, with the certainty that if defeated the troops from West Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas are cut off from their homes. The Times says:

"This strategical position our authority thinks must strike every military man as the only one which promises success and a speedy close of the campaign. To secure it, he advises at once withdrawing the greater part of the army before Washington, leaving, say a garrison of 50,000 men in the intrenchments and on the river, and at once throwing 150,000 drilled and disciplined troops into Kentucky to unite with the armies of Gen. Halleck and Gen. Buell for a march upon Nashville. We should then have 300,000 men rapidly advancing on Nashville and North Alabama. Such a force would be irresistible, and Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama would at once fall into our hands.

The army at Manassas must then either fall back into North and South Carolina, where the means of subsistence are most scanty, or attempt to cross the mountains into Tennessee, where the communications are probably soon to be in our hands. Any desperate advance of the rebels on the Potomac will be impossible in the present condition of the roads, and could not be attempted with any hope of success while 50,000 men hold Washington and the banks of the river.—More troops, too, could easily be advanced from Fortress Monroe and other points, if such a desperate effort were made. With this plan our authority believes that the rebellion would in effect be broken down in two months, and the turning point in the military campaign be reached.

From any 'forward movement' from Washington he has no hopes of any decisive result.—If Gen. McClellan is forced into it by popular impatience, he believes the effects will be either unimportant or disastrous. The battle which shall put down the rebellion, he firmly says, is to be fought in the West."

HEADQUARTERS, Camp Jameson, Ha l's Hill, Jan. 30.

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde—

Died, January 28, Peter Cannon, Co. I, 24 Regiment Maine Volunteers. He was buried today at Georgetown. Mr Cannon came out with the regiment, and was a fine soldier and much beloved by his comrades. He had been sick about three months.

The weather continues rainy, the roads are very bad, and it is hard work to get to Washington with a loaded team. I do not see any prospect of a move at present. Yours truly,

DANIEL WHITE,
Captain Co. I, 24 Maine.

THE NASHVILLE AND TUSCARORA. Thurlow Weed, in his last letter, dated Southampton, Jan. 11, makes the following new and important statement respecting the position of those two vessels—

Mr. Adams received a despatch late last evening from Earl Russell, stating that as the United States ship Tuscarora had entered Southampton with evident intention of engaging the Confederate steamer Nashville, an order from the Admiralty Office would be sent immediately to the Naval Officer in charge at Southampton to detain the United States vessel in port twenty four hours after the departure of the Confederate steamer.

I came down from London this morning to confer with Capt. Britton, our Consul, and Capt. Craven of the Tuscarora.

This new phase to matters will necessarily change Capt. Craven's march. Instead of waiting for the Nashville, Captain C will leave first, governing his course, as he can by the best observations and calculations he is enabled to make.

It seems that something averse turns up against us at almost every turning. Neutrality questions arise constantly and are pretty sure to tell against us.

It is blowing a gale today, and neither vessel will probably get to sea. The Nashville, lie close, shows no sign; and the Tuscarora looms up outside, about a mile off.

The Government has, I believe, refused to allow the Nashville to do any more than would have been extended to a merchant ship. No arms, munitions, or war fixings have been permitted.

Captain Britton, the Consul, gave me a copy of an authenticated account which shows every thing provided, with its cost, making in all an aggregate of £586 6s 8d.

I greatly fear that Captain Craven, entangled in this neutrality net, may loose the opportunity, which he so much wants, of punishing this pirate.

It is rumored that the Sumter is coming here. The officers of the Tuscarora hope she will, and say that they can manage both.

HEAVY SNOW STORM IN VIRGINIA. The New York Herald's Washington despatch of Saturday says:

The snow across the river was this morning from four to six inches deep. A good many regiments have had their hands full shovelling away the snow and digging drains to prevent their camps overflowing. By the visible loss of this storm the roads will be made more impassable, and the possibility of any movement is further delayed.

OPINION.

Vesie Bunk vs. Gorham L. Boynton et al.—Nonsuit confirmed.

Paine, Knowles, Rowe. Peters

☞ Henry A. Holden of this city, who was wounded at the battle of Bull Run, and taken prisoner, is at home on a visit. He was discharged on parole.

☞ Mrs. Ferguson of Dixmont, a lady about sixty years of age, who has been blind for several years by reason of "Cataract," has lately had her sight restored by an operation performed by Dr S. Laughton of this city. The Doctor also operated successfully on Mr. Edward Emery's eye, of Monroe, for "Anchylobiopharon," an adhesion of the eyelids, which is not of very common occurrence. This case was of thirty years' standing, and was caused by an injury to the eye by a chip, while at work in a mill.

AN INGENIOUS INVENTION. We have examined an improved boot jack, invented by a gentleman in Eddington which we think is a very useful article. It is so arranged that the boot fits into a socket, and a lever holds it tight until the boot is pulled out, keeping it firm all the time. We understand that he has taken measures to secure a patent.

FIRE HOSE. It is not generally known that Fire Hose of excellent quality is made in this State. But such is the fact. Messrs. John L. Shaw & Co., of Portland, are manufacturing double and single riveted hose for fire engines, mills, &c., and they are also prepared to supply flexible pipes, fire caps and belts. We advise persons desirous of purchasing to examine their articles before going out of the State.

RECRUITING PAPERS. It seems that railroads, and other corporations, accept no passes unless the officer signing them has direct authority from Major Gardner, who now has control of all enlistments, &c., in this State. It is thought that the Major will soon have authority to act as disbursing agent, and have funds to pay the outstanding bills.

SHORING HAY. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that Mr. James Dunning is building a large barn for the accommodation of persons desiring to bring their hay to market while the travelling is good. It will be quite convenient to hay haulers, and we have no doubt will be extensively patronized.

COASTING ACCIDENT. A girl named Elizabeth McKenney was severely and perhaps fatally injured while coasting near the brick school house in Danville, on Saturday.—Lewiston Journal.

☞ George W. Parsons, a native of Norway, was killed at Magnolia, Ill., on the 13th, by a large stick of timber, which rolled on him in the woods.

CONTINENTAL MONEY A LEGAL TENDER. The Washington Intelligencer shows that Congress in 1777 did not legalize continental money, and made it a legal tender for payment of debts, but only recommended the several Legislatures to adopt measures to that effect. The issues of continental paper made by Congress from May 10, 1775, in a few months reached $300,000,000, and depreciated until they became entirely valueless, notwithstanding the passage by the States of laws making the notes a legal tender. Legislation to that effect was performed in Connecticut in October, 1776, in Massachusetts in December, in Rhode Island in July, in New Jersey in August, 1776, and in Pennsylvania in January, in Delaware in February, in Maryland in April, and in Virginia in May, 1777. It is proper, however, to note that the depreciations of those days were very different from those that followed later, and that the more Material State [illegible]

☞ Mr. Owen C. Wildhouse, one of the Commissioners appointed by President Lincoln visit the Maine troops in the field, and urge the facilitate the signing of the allotment rolls, and forwarding home of the soldiers' pay to their families and friends, writes that he is meeting with good success in his labors. The allotment of the Third Regiment for the next two months already amount to $10,266, and he is in hopes to make it $11,000.

Thirty persons were admitted to the 2d Parish Church, (Dr. Carruthers) yesterday, by profession. Their ages were from 16 upwards.—Portland Argus.

EIGHT GREAT BLUNDERS. We give below an article from the columns of the Religious Herald, a Baptist paper, of Richmond, Va. It shows so much more coolness of judgment and candor of mind than we deem it worthy of special notice. It says the South has made at least eight blunders, and enumerates them as follows:

1. In firing upon Fort Sumter.
2. In believing there would be a divided North and an apostate Federal Government.
3. In believing that they would have the hearty sympathies of Europe.
4. In believing that the bonds of their Confederacy would readily be taken in Europe.
5. In believing that the military power of the North would be directed in a crusade against slavery rather than employed for the overthrow of treason, and the establishment of the Union and the Constitution.
6. In believing that Northern courage and physique were no match for Southern, or that to battle one Southerner equabed five Yankees.
7. In believing that the flag of the Cotton Oligarchy would wave above the Capitol at Washington, and the roll of slaves be called on Bunker Hill.
8. In believing that the fancied omnipotence of Cotton would dominate the commerce of the world.

[From the Atlantic Monthly for February.]

AT PORT ROYAL—1861.

BY J. G. WHITTIER.

The tent-lights glimmer on the land,
The ship lights on the sea;
The night wind bears no sound to us, save drifting sand and star track on lone Tybee.

At last our grating keels outslide,
Our good boats rock and swing;
And while we ride the land-locked tide,
Our negroes row and sing.

For dear the boatman holds his gifts
Of music and of song;
Though all that kindly nature sifts
Among his mates of wrong.

The power to make his toiling days
Add for home-comforts praise;
The quick relish of mirth that plays
With sorrow's minor keys.

Another glow than sunset's fire
Shall fillet the West with light,
Where field and farmer, barn and byre
Are blazing through the night.

The land is wild with fear and hate,
The roar runs mad and fast;
From hand to hand, from gate to gate,
The flaming brand is past.

The proud glow fails along across
Dark faces lined with pain,
Not touching the terror lists and loss
That follow in blazing pines.

With bear sticks times to their song
They weave a simple dance
The painful remembrance wrong,
The hope of better days.

The triumph made that Miriam sang,
The joy of unleashed feet,
Sounding with African mellow tongue
Their broken Saxon words.

SONG OF THE NEGRO BOATMEN.

Oh, praise an' thanks! the Lord he come
To set the people free;
An' massa took de day for doom,
An' we go jubilee.
De Lord dat keep de Red Sea waves
He jus' as strong as ever;
Fo' I say de Lord is free to-day,
An' I say it forever!
De years dat long have gone
Jes' as fast as they can blow,
Will bring de rice an' cotton
Oh, neebber you fear, if neebber you hear
De driver blow his horn!

Oh massa on his stabbles gone,
He leab de land behind;
De Lord is off wid he hire fo' de sun,
Like dem shock in de wind.
We know de time we own de plow,
We know de hands dat hold;
We sot de pig, we sell de cow,
But neebber chile be sold.
De land will grow, de cotton blow,
We will share de rice an' corn;
Oh, neebber you fear, if neebber you hear
De driver blow his horn!

We pray de Lord he gib us signs
Dat some day we be free;
De North wind tell it to de pines,
De wild duck to de sea.
We think it when de church-bell ring,
We dream it in de dream,
De rice bird mean it when he sing,
De eagle when he scream.
De pam will grow, de cotton blow,
We'll shab de rice an' corn;
Oh, neebber you fear, if neebber you hear
De driver blow his horn!

We know de promise neebber fail,
An' neebber let de word,
So, like de apostles in de jail,
We wait for de Lord.
An' now up open ebery door,
An' throw away de key;
Bettter we be in bondage no more
We look him better free.
De pam will grow, de cotton blow,
We'll shab de rice an' corn;
Oh, neebber you fear, if neebber you hear
De driver blow his horn!

So sing our dusky gondoliers;
And with a secret pain,
And smiles that seem akin to tears,
We hear the wild refrain.

We dare not share the negro's trust,
Nor yet his hope deny:
We only know that God is just,
And every wrong shall die.

Aside seems the song; each swarthy face
Flame-lighted, ruder still,
We start to think that hapless race
Have shaped our good or ill;

That laws of changeless justice bind
Oppressor with oppressed;
And, close as sin and suffering joined,
We march to fate, abreast.

Sing on, poor hearts! your chant shall be
Our sign of flight to bloom—
The Veil song of Liberty,
Our death-rune of our doom!

SPECIAL NOTICES.

DR LIGHTHILL. Dr C. B. Lighthill, now at the Bangor House, has charge of Drs. Lighthill's patients. His treatment has been very successful in whatever located, and those who may be better acquainted with Dr. A. P. Lighthill, may repose the same confidence in him. The following are among the most recent cures.

To whom it may concern—I feel in duty bound to say to the public, who are afflicted with deafness that my hearing has been partially obscure for more than twenty years, and during that time had been growing worse. For some months past I have not heard the least in one ear, and not little in the other, but nothing the advertisement of Dr. Lighthill I felt in hopes of getting help. But knowing there to be so much imposition upon the public by traveling physicians, I delayed making. Dr. Lighthill until the fifth inst. I then called at one of the Bangor Houses and by long time and I could hear from the deaf ear, and that I could converse with persons that talked into the other ear. I [illegible] hearing still improving. [illegible]

Garland, Jan. 30, 1862.

Dr. Lighthill—Dear Sir: This is to certify that you have effectually cured me of partial deafness by a very short course of treatment.

Yours, gratefully,

CLOTHING.

GENTLEMEN:

Having tried for years the fortunes of Tailors doing a credit business, and having myself proved that system to be utterly wrong for the Retail Tailoring business, I feel compelled to adopt the CASH SYSTEM. It is better for the customer who expects to pay for his garments, as the amount lost by bad debts, under the credit system, is divided between the patrons and the customers, as the former require it by paying as much as 20 per cent. less for their garments, and the latter is saved from bankruptcy. Consequently I would invite all Cash paying customers to examine the Stock of Goods now in hand, and see if the prices are not 20 per cent. less than at any other Clothing House in the city. The Cutting Department is under the charge of favorably known in New York and Boston as one of the Best Artists in the Art of Cutting.

Mr. J. H. LARKIN,

Laws of the United States,

Passed at the Second Session of the Thirty-seventh Congress.

CHAPTER—No. 11.

AN ACT to authorize the President to appoint two additional Assistant Secretaries of War.

Be it enacted, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled,

That the President be and he is hereby authorized to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, two additional Assistant Secretaries of War, whose salary shall each be three thousand dollars per annum, who shall perform all such duties as the Secretary of War belonging to that Department as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of war or be required by law—The offices of these additional secretaries to continue for one year.

Approved, January 22, 1862.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Numerous imitations of the Strawbar Brown having appeared in the market during the past few years, and, of late, attempts having been made to counterfeit the name or trade mark, it is deemed highly important, that the public should know how to distinguish the genuine article when making purchase of a Stove.

Ask for the genuine P. PORTER STEWART Stove, and see that P. P. STEWART's name is on the hearth-plate of each Stove. The names of the only manufacturers, Fuller, Warren & Co., are on each Stove.

Gen. Scott going to Mexico on an Important Mission—Cheaters of Government Ordered to Disgorge.

NEW YORK, 4th

A great deal of sickness is prevailing among our troops It is attributed by the surgeons to the negligence or ignorance of company officers in making requisitions for proper shoes and clothing for the men An abundance of articles can be obtained by simply asking for them — Many articles intended for our troops are lying neglected in the depot of the Sanitary Commission notwithstanding notice has been given repeatedly to officers of regiments to which they were sent, to take them away

It is believed that large bodies of rebels have been transferred by railroad from Manassas relying upon the utter inability of the Federal army to move against them on account of the impassible condition of the roads

G o B Davis of Portland, Me, the agent of that state for the distribution of hospital stores to troops, made visits the past week to several Maine regiments across the Potomac

He passed beyond the Union pickets in the region of Mount Vernon and brought an original title deed on parchment, bearing the signatures and seal of Lord Fairfax dated Feb 1st, 1746 taken from Gunston Hall, the residence of Sir Edward Chickester, two miles beyond Pohick Church, to which point the 31 Maine regiment has now been advanced This was the family church of George Washington

Mr Davis reports the Maine troops in good health and condition

The Tribune's despatch says an order has been issued to the commanders of divisions in Virginia directing that all supplies of baggage not actually needed for the troops on the march be sent here and warehoused

Another order has been issued to surgeons in charge of the hospitals in this city to send the convalescent patients to Annapolis and elsewhere and otherwise to have ready as many spare beds as possible

The Time's despatch states that Gen Scott is going in the frigate Richmond, to Mexico, accompanied by the Government at Washington with powers of a delicate and responsible nature, and that is the probable result of his mission are of the most important character It would not be expected that the tradition of our Government in regard to the interference of foreign Governments in the affair of this continent would be readily abandoned, or that we should look with indifference upon the movements of France, England and Spain Gen Scott's experience and advice, backed by the timely extension of the material and necessary to extricate the Mexican Government from its present peril, will, it is hoped, restore peace and prosperity to the Mexican people and at the same time peaceably secure for the commerce of this country the advantages which England, France and Spain have sought to gain by the sword

The World's despatch says a rumor reaches me in which the names of parties are distinctly stated that orders have gone forward to your Marshal Nuttz and District Attorney Smith to compel the parties who sold or chartered improper vessels to the War Department for General Banks's expedition, to return the sums received or go to prison A firm in your city, known to have been violent secessionists long after the fall of Sumter will, it is stated, be the one to who are called on Loyal men regard it as very strange that this firm should have been employed If you will examine the files of the Journal of Commerce as far back as last May and June while it was in open and avowed sympathy with the rebels, you will remember it often contained exclusively items of intelligence respecting the operations of the Government in the charter and purchase of shipping which subsequently transpired, were obtained from this firm Treachery as well as fraud is suspected and I am for understand those who have sworn to allegiance in respect to the draft of their vessels will be compelled to refund

SENATE

A petition was presented of the manufacturers of steam machinery of Boston against the bill reducing the grades of engineers on ships

Mr Sumner reported a bill authorizing the appointment of diplomatic representatives to Liberia and Hayti

Mr Pomroy asked leave to take up the resolution relative to the Kansas command.

Mr Carlisle hoped that it would be laid over

Mr Pomroy said the resolution was offered in accordance with the suggestion of the Secretary of War The resolution passed

The bill providing for ironclad steamers was taken up

Mr Hale proposed to withdraw both amendments of the committee, and asked the Senate to make the subject a special order for Friday, when they could hear him on the report of the Naval Committee in regard to the Secretary of War and pass the bill as it came from the House

Mr Morrill said the bill proposes to build 20 iron clad steamers, which he considered yet a doubtful experiment, and opposed the whole thing as impracticable

Mr Hale said they were strongly recommended by the President and Secretary of War, and could be built in five months

Mr Grimes instanced their efficiency in the Crimean war, where the French went within 800 yards of the forts, and were exposed to heavy fire but received little damage, and destroyed the fortress

After some debate and offering of amendments, the bill was recommitted to the Naval Committee.

A bill was reported defining the pay and emoluments of the officers of the army as a substitute for the original bill

Mr Pomroy introduced a bill to aid in constructing a railroad and telegraph to the Pacific Referred

The case of Bright was taken up

Mr Browning favored his expulsion, followed by Mr Dixon

Mr Doolittle said he considered the letter as aiding the traitors, and should vote for expulsion

Mr Bright read two resolutions which were passed at a large political meeting in January last, which embodied his sentiments They were as follows—

Resolved, That in this emergency the democracy of Indiana banishing all feelings of passion and resentment will recollect only their duty to the whole country

Resolved, That this war should not be waged in a spirit of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing the rights of the Southern States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired That as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease, That we will sustain with all our energies the war for the Constitution and integrity of the Union, but oppose a war for emancipation or subjugation

Mr Bright said that as far these resolutions go they were his platform It turned out of this body, he will go again before the people so long and so often as they honored him with a hearing

Mr Sumner made a long speech

Mr Davis replied, saying that he was always attracted by the grand loquent, humorous speeches of the Senator from Massachusetts who shakes his imperial locks like Jove But he was not the Jove of the Senate or of the country there were other minds as large as his, who were willing to give rights to all the people of the States The Senator might remember in his sacred readings of the Goliah who thought himself as invincible as the Senator does The Senator might perhaps, meet the same fate

The Senate then went into executive session Adjourned

HOUSE

The House went into committee of the whole on the treasury note bill

Mr Morrill did not favor Mr Spaulding's measure He did not think hostilities would be of such long continuance for with the melting of snow our army would march towards the Gulf, and crush the rebellion We can close the war by the 30th of July as well as forty years hence and thereby economise blood as well as treasure He would as soon provide Chinese wooden guns for the army as paper money What we need most is money He objected to the bill because of its utter impolicy, and the consequence of its adoption would be the increased cost of the war, and an inflation of the currency

Mr Roscoe Conkling of New York said the law of taxation ought to accompany the emission of paper There were two hundred and fifty millions of specie in the North, and if we deserve it, we can have it. The people must know what is to be done with the money, and some things which are not to be done The money must not be swept into the hands of gamblers and heroes in high or low places and whether in or out of office They must know it is not to be squandered on favorites whether politicians or "brothers in law", clergymen or women They must know that frugality prevails and retrenchment has begun They must know that a vigorous policy is pursued in the conduct of the war—a policy more destructive to the rebellion, and more crushing to those who have an idea of accepting anything but the absolute submission of the rebels It was not of the delay of advancing upon Manassas or any where else that complaint is made He condemned the exhausted policy which sought to subdue an agricultural people of eight millions; the slaves employed in the fields while the whites are engaged in fighting He then argued against the great banking scheme about to be introduced, the design seeming to be to prevent the local banks from resuming specie payment He should vote against any attempt to make aught but silver and gold a legal tender

Mr Bingham of Ohio favored the bill, maintaining that Congress had the right under the Constitution to make a legal tender of its notes

Mr Sheffield of Rhode Island quoted the words of Mr Webster—"There can be no legal tender but gold and silver and foreign coins, regulated by law" He was opposed to making a legal tender of these notes, because it was dishonest.

The committee rose

Mr Wickliffe gave notice that if he could get the floor tomorrow, he would move to close the debate for the purpose relieving the country by action on the bill
